Complete House Furnishers.

Rev. I. B. Tallman, of the Michigan conference of the M. E. church, is in the city and occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday.

Six new houses are in course of construction in Uniontown. This end of the city is growing rapidly and a number of new houses will be built this fall.

An alarm of fire was turned in at 6:45 last evening caused by a burning flue in the three-story building on the corner of Commercial and Fourteenth street, owned by Andrew Young. The department responded promptly, but their services were not needed.

There will be a coffee and apron sale, also the raffling of a silk quilt by the "Koenigin Louise Lodge No. 4," sister lodge to Sons of Hermann, this afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend. It will be held at the A. O. U. W. Hall.

W. W. Whipple was in the city yesterday. He states that the project of putting in an electric light, gas and telephone system in Astoria is progressing satisfactorily and the engineers will soon be in the field to make an estimate for the plans and specifications. Mr. Whipple returned to Seattle last evening.

Contractors Ferguson & Houston are pushing the work on the new city hall and expect to have it completed in about two weeks. The work is first-class in every particular and reflects great credit on the architect and contractors. Not a thing has been slighted and it will be an ornament and credit to the city.

Hon. C. W. Carnahan, of Clatsop, was in the city yesterday and reports that work on the Cullaby lake canal is progressing and it is expected to have it completed by the first of the year. Over 4,000 feet were built during the month of May. The building of the canal will be of considerable importance to Astoria.

Charles P. Jennings, secretary of the F. W. Gardiner Printing Company, of Salt Lake City, accompanied by his wife, was in the city yesterday. They took a trip to Seaside and will return this morning on the boat so as to view the scenery of the Columbia river. They have no rivers in Utah, and Mr. Jennings and wife enjoyed the trip.

It is with great pleasure that the Astorian is able to announce that all announcements about the Northeast cable will be eliminated from now on. The cable was repaired yesterday and is now in full running order. Weather forecasters Beals has been to considerable trouble and annoyance in making the necessary repairs and is to be congratulated upon the final consummation of the repairs. So are the people of Astoria.

A very pleasant reception was given at the Stevens last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, who leave tomorrow evening for Juneau. They will spend two days in Portland visiting the exposition and then leave for Seattle Saturday and will leave for Juneau and expect to arrive there Monday. Since their residence in Astoria they have made many warm friends who regret to see them go, but since it must be so, all unite in wishing the safe journey, prosperity and good health.

Many of the people of Astoria who visited the Lewis and Clark fair in Portland and saw the exhibits from every other county in the state, expressed themselves as ashamed to let the people visiting the fair know that they were from Clatsop county. It was certainly one of the greatest mistakes Clatsop county ever made and it is not to be wondered at that the Oregonian shows evident slight to Astoria and Clatsop county. The people deserve it. It shows a lack of enterprise not conducive to the building up of the resources of the city and county. It is a rare occurrence when a man is compelled to deny his county.

Chairman Burns, of the ways and means committee, has opened the bids for the purchase of $10,000 municipal bonds of the city of Astoria. Several bids were received, the best being from Morris Brothers & Christensen, of Portland, who offered $1,011, making the premium on the bonds $170. The bids will be submitted to the common council at its meeting next Monday night, and the bid of Morris & Co., probably accepted. The bonds are to run five years and bear 5 per cent. They are issued to take up the warrants issued where persons took advantage of the five-year installment plan.

"Yes, I've just returned from a two-months' visit in the east," the Portland young lady was saying, "and, oh, I had such a lovely time! Those easterners are so different from us, though!"

"What points did you visit?" inquired the newcomer in Oregon. "I do hope you saw dear old Boston."

"Boston!" the Portland girl ejaculated. "I should say not. I was in Montana."

VISIT TO THE FAIR

Astorians Report Lewis and Clark Fair Worth Seeing.

CHARGES ARE REASONABLE

A Few Places Overcharge, But Entertainment is Reasonable While the Fair Itself is an Educational Exhibit Well Worth the Price of Admission.

A large number of Astorians have visited the Lewis and Clark fair in Portland and with very few exceptions, were pleased with the exhibits and have no fault to find with the prices prevailing. Any person can go to Portland and secure good service at reasonable rates, or he can be "held up" by a few of the unscrupulous, but the exposition management are not responsible for the frailties of human nature. If a person goes to the fair and tries to ape the millionaire and wants the best the market affords, irrespective of the cost, he can be accommodated. If he wants to visit the fair and put up with as good grub as he provides at home he can find plenty of places for accommodation. No one can expect to visit a swell restaurant and get a meal for 25 cents. Most of the restaurants set good meals for from 25 to 50 cents, and there are a few restaurants where charges were made for the knife and fork, the napkin, table cloth, table and chairs, and even for pepper and salt, but no one is compelled to patronize them, if he does he should be made to pay for attempting to live on a three-dollar meal on a four-bit income.

Nearly all of the exhibits are in place but if there are a few omissions, there is a full day's entertainment and pleasure in the government building, the forestry building and the agricultural building, each worth double the price of admission. There are fakirs in Portland, the same as at St. Louis, Chicago and other cities where great expositions have been held, but no one is compelled to visit them. If a man is held up by extravagant charges, nine times out of ten, it is his own fault. Some men can spend $20 a day in seeing the fair and others can see just as much for $2.50. It depends upon how rich a man feels when he arrives in Portland.

The fair is a splendid educational exhibition. If there was no other building than the government building, it is worth all it costs and more. The Forestry building has never been equalled in any of the great world's fairs. The exhibits from Wasco county, and especially from Hood River is one of the finest exhibitions of the fruit resources of that county ever seen at any fair. Nearly every county in the state is represented, and they show the wonderful resources of Oregon. It is to be regretted that Clatsop county has no exhibit, but the principle industries of the county are represented by the government in forestry and fishing. Two days' visit at the fair for the children is worth as much as a year's education in the public schools and the impression made upon the minds of children will be lasting and a valuable acquisition to the education obtained at the public schools. The Lewis and Clark fair is a state institution and as such is worthy of the patronage of the people who are seeking information and desire to know of the wonderful advances made in science, art and mechanical inventions during the past century. Of course there are some people that would be dissatisfied with any exhibition; they would be dissatisfied with heaven, if they are so fortunate as to reach that place. The cost is inexpensive as compared with other expositions and depends altogether upon what a person wants to pay. The economical man can see as much for his money as the extravagant man and will appreciate it more. It depends to a great extent upon how a man has been raised.

manner to publicly show my appreciation and thank you for the confidence and high honor imposed upon me. If elected to the position, which I believe is a most important one to the future welfare of our city, I will pledge my best endeavor to foster and promote our educational institutions and carefully guard the interests of the taxpayers at all times.

(Signed.) JAMES W. WELCH.
Mr. Welch has always taken an active interest in the public schools of Astoria and is willing to devote his time and attention to the upbuilding of the educational institutions of the city. The district is fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Welch and his election is an assurance that the affairs of the public schools will be in competent hands and will be a valuable assistance to the present school board to whose efforts the schools have attained a high standard of efficiency.

Chamber of Commerce.
There will be a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday evening, June 14, for the purpose of considering important questions submitted in a letter from David W. Day, relative to valuable deposits in the sands of Clatsop county. All members and the citizens of Astoria are requested to be present.
